WHAT IS THE IIS EUGANEO?

The "IIS Euganeo" Institute of Higher Education is situated in Este, in the province of Padua, is a public school established in 1968, which today offers eleven five-year courses of technical and professional education/training, which end with the diploma of technical or professional education.

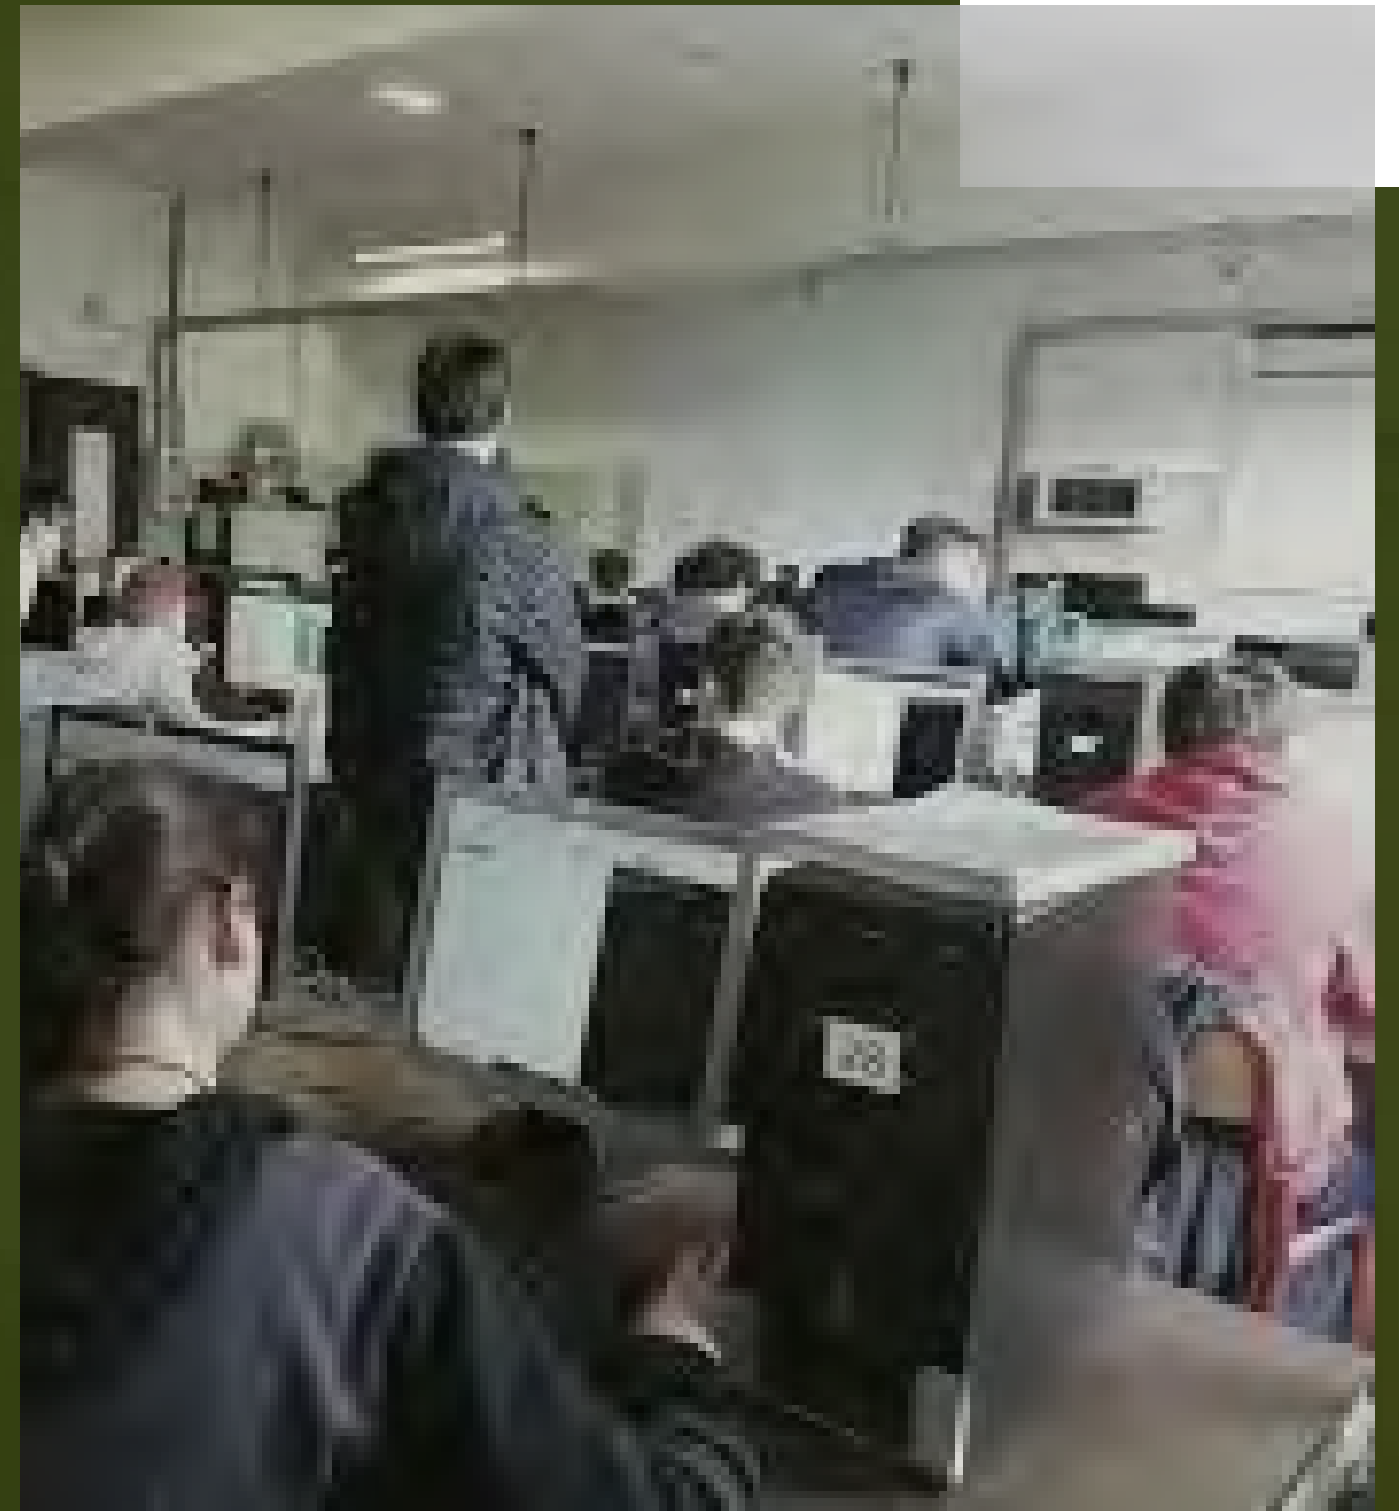

It also offers, since 2014, the three-year course of adult education (IDA) in social and health services with the possibility of getting a professional education diploma, completely equivalent to the diploma obtained with the "classic" five-year course.

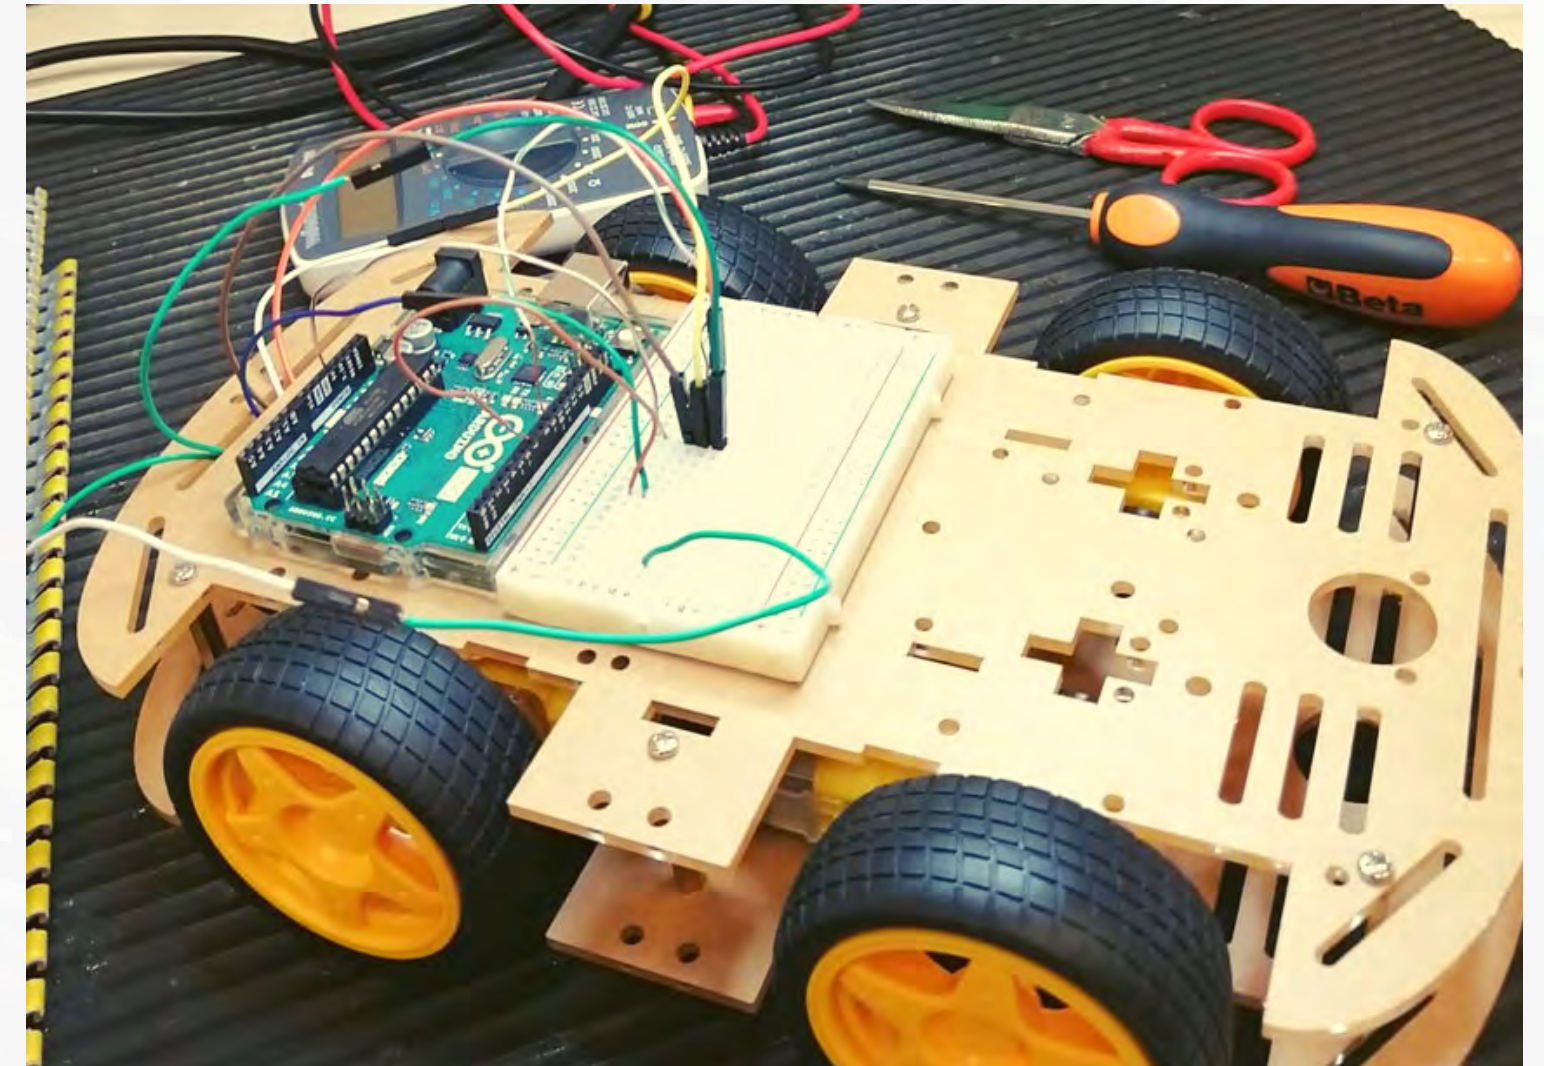

IN ADDICTION TO THIS

Technical education, ITIS, allows young people to develop their talents to recognize and understand the innovations that the evolution of science and technology continuously produces and be able to apply them in the world of work and professions.

STORY OF SCHOOL

The "Euganeo" State Industrial Technical Institute was founded in Este in 1963-64. At the beginning, the Este section only lasted two years: the first year the students were 127. An important step was taken in 1966 when the third school year was introduced.
